

POST MASTER'S CERTIFICATE IN NURSING EDUCATION

USF COLLEGE OF NURSING, NOW OFFERING

Our Post-Master's Certificate in Nursing Education prepares nurses to teach in a variety of educational and health care settings.

- Schools/Colleges
- Client Education Programs
- Nursing Professional Development Departments (Staff Education)

Upon completion, graduates are prepared for beginning faculty or education positions in health care institutions and/or the community.

YOUR FUTURE ...

Educate the nursing leaders of tomorrow

Earn a competitive salary (average is $76,000, according to Glassdoor.com)

Help remedy the nursing shortage

Be able to maintain two careers — clinical practice and nurse educator

For information, contact

Dr. Barbara Redding, EdD, RN, CNE, at bredding@health.usf.edu

HEALTH.USF.EDU/NURSING

COURSE SEQUENCE

- NGR 6713 Foundations of Nursing Education
- NGR 6710 Teaching Strategies in Nursing Education
- NGR 6718 Evaluation Strategies in Nursing Education
- NGR 6947 Practice in Nursing Education Practicum
- NGR 6940 Classroom/Online Teaching

NOTE: Courses can be completed within two years. Following completion of NGR 6713, 6710 and 6718, certificate students can be eligible for Certified Nurse Educator (CNE) certification available from the National League for Nursing (NLN).

ADMISSIONS CRITERIA

Applicant must have an MS in nursing or a health-related field from a regionally accredited university

APPLICATION PROCESS

Please visit the Graduate Certificate website to access the application: usf.edu/innovative-education/graduate-certificates/

In addition to the application forms, please submit:

- Official transcripts
- A resume
- Letter of intent
- Three letters of recommendation

COLLEGE OF NURSING
UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH FLORIDA