

PhD Program in Nursing Science

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

- ✓ Transforms researchers into nationally recognized scientists
- ✓ Prepares graduates to conduct original research that informs science, practice and health policy
- ✓ Emphasizes the use of innovative research methods and data to advance scientific knowledge
- ✓ Provides rigorous research training and multiple opportunities for creative, interdisciplinary collaboration in a vibrant, diverse metropolitan Tampa Bay region

Research Expertise

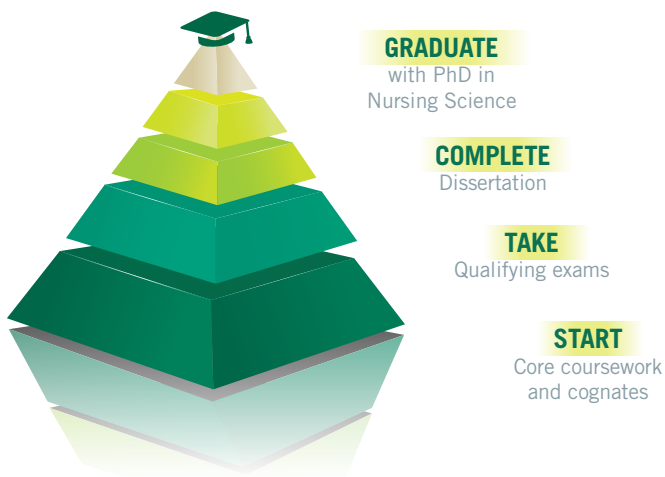

▶ PhD IN NURSING SCIENCE

“I’ve been so fortunate in the PhD program to have a team of mentors who have helped me. I’ve been able to work on research studies as a graduate research assistant. I’ve also been able to work on publications and travel across the country, even internationally, to present research at nursing conferences.”

LAKESHIA COUSIN, PhD, APRN, AGPCNP-BC
PhD Graduate '19, USF College of Nursing Postdoctoral Fellow, Moffitt Cancer Center

Your journey ...

Your future ...

-  Become an internationally known research scientist
-  Conduct research at top tier universities
-  Disseminate innovative research
-  Lead interprofessional research teams

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- 3.0 GPA
- BS from a regionally accredited program (for post-baccalaureate entry)
- Competitive scores on the quantitative, verbal and analytical portions of the GRE
- Demonstrated commitment to doctoral study and scholarly productivity
- Curriculum vitae
- Licensure as a Florida Registered Nurse prior to enrolling in clinical coursework
- Three letters of recommendation
- Written statement of professional and research goals

NOTE: Applicants from countries where English is not the official language must demonstrate English proficiency. Please see USF Graduate Catalog for more information or contact USF Office of Admissions: www.usf.edu/admissions

LEARN MORE

THERESA BECKIE, PhD
tbeckie@usf.edu
(813) 598-9162

MARISSA KEARNEY, MHSc
marissatane@usf.edu
(813) 974-6370

 APPLY NOW: nursephd.health.usf.edu

 UNIVERSITY of SOUTH FLORIDA
College of Nursing